E. B. COLE AND WIFE RETURN FROM TRIP TO WEST AND NORTH

MR. COLE SAYS POLITICS RAMPANT IN NORTH.

Believes Race for President Between Wilson and Roosevelt-Wilson Has Best Chances.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cole, the former a prominent and pleasant reality dealer of this city, returned Tuesday night from a four month vacation trip during which time they visited twenty states in America, and also spent considerable time in British Columbia. Mr. Cole, as a delegate from the local lodge of Elks, attended the national convention of Elks held last July in Portland, Ore.

Mr. Cole was in Chicago for the larger part of October, and states that all the people were talking was baseball and politics. "I witnessed the city championship games between the Cubs and White Sox, and was riding with the White Sox when they won the National League pennant. The National League team had won three straight games and everyone was sure that they would win, but the White Sox came from behind and knocked out the Frank Chance winners," stated Mr. Cole.

Concerning the approaching election, Mr. Cole says that it is a tight between Roosevelt and Wilson, and that Taft will be a third in the race. "The Bull Moose are running out of nose and they stand an excellent chance of carrying Indiana and Illinois, but from what I heard, I am sanguine that Wilson will be our next president."

"During all of my trip I have never talked to a democrat but who was giving a vote for Woodrow Wilson. The democrats are thoroughly organized and are backing the New Jersey governor to the hilt. The Roosevelt people are claiming everything and undoubtedly will poll a large vote, but I believe that the former Gough voter will be second in the presidential race," stated Mr. Cole.

Mr. Cole was gratified to know that the city had let a contract for $50,000 street paving, and was pleased at the many improvements in the building line that have been going along during his absence.

TELEGRAM OF ACCEPTANCE RECEIVED LAST NIGHT.

Corpus Christi Gets First Hydro-Aeroplane Attraction Ever Brought to State.

Mills Aviators of Chicago last night wired the Commercial Club that the proposition to establish a winter hydro-aeroplane training camp in Corpus Christi, as submitted, was accepted. The telegram stated when the language would be completed and stated that the site selected by Secretary W. D. Hanks would be acceptable. The aviators wired that they would be in Corpus Christi about November 15. The members of Corpus Christi were asked for to be used in their advertising, relative to the establishment of a winter hydro-aeroplane training camp here.

With the coming of the proposition, Corpus Christi secured the first hydro-aeroplane attraction to be brought to the state. The training camp will be maintained in this city permanently. The dates will be from November 15 to the first part of March each year. All the aviators trained for the Mills Aviators will get their instructions at the Corpus Christi headquarters.

While in this city recently, E. F. Mills, president of Mills Aviators, stated that it was his plan to make Corpus Christi permanent headquarters for a winter training camp and that the new facilities in aerial and water sports would be perfected here during the winter months. The Chicago office of the Mills Aviators will be closed and Corpus Christi become winter headquarters. A large amount of advertising done by the Mills Aviators will give Corpus Christi considerable publicity as an aviation city.

The local end of the proposition is coming to a head. With the acceptance of the proposition, the proposition was accepted after a large number of tickets had been sold.

BOTH MEN STABBED DURING AFFRAY ARE REPORTED IMPROVING

DUD NEWTON ARRESTED EARLY YESTERDAY MORNING.

Believed Drunk Floyd and Leo Newton Will Both Recover if No Complications Develop.

Reports received by the Caller late last night from attending physicians were that the conditions of Fred Floyd and Leo Newton, the two young men who were wounded early Wednesday morning, were improved, and it is now thought that both have passed the danger point and will recover. Both were badly cut with knives when they became involved in an affray near Halls restaurant on Chaparral street. The trouble started as a fist fight, and later developed into a cutting affray, and it is alleged that both of the parties in the combat were using knives.

Floyd is at his apartment in the Lyric Flats. He has a deep wound that went in the left side, about three inches below the arm-pit and penetrated one of his lungs. Dr. Gregory, the attending physician, stated last night that his patient was rapidly improving, and he anticipated his speedy recovery.

Newton received seven wounds in the back, and while his condition is serious, he last night showed signs of improvement, and his recovery is expected. He is at his home on Ward street.

Dud Newton Arrested.

Arthur Wright early yesterday morning arrested Dud Newton, a brother of Leo Newton, charging that Dud Newton struck the blow that resulted in the injury to Floyd. He was promptly released on furnishing bond in the sum of $500. He is charged with assault with intent to commit murder, and will be given an examining trial early next week.

It was alleged yesterday that Floyd had made a statement in which he stated that Dud, and not Leo Newton, struck the blow with the knife which resulted in the wound. Dud Newton is a statement against this is erroneous, and it is expected that he will be given an examining trial early next week.

REVIVAL AT BAPTIST CHURCH CONTINUES, TWO SERMONS DAILY

PERSONAL WORK ADVOCATED STRONGLY BY SPEAKER.

Dr. Carroll Preached on Subject, "How to Win Souls to Christ"—Personal Powers.

Dr. Carroll preached yesterday on "How to Win Souls to Christ." He used as a text the words from the first chapter of John, which describe the personal work of Andrew and Philip in leading their relatives to Jesus. Dr. Carroll pointed out that it was not because of their prominence at ability that they were able to bring those to Christ. Andrew was a common fisherman and had no special influence. Philip was a farmer and was not prominent as such, but was prominent as a Christian.

He said: "A great many Christians get the idea that only the prominent or other prominent Christians can lead people to Christ. The woman who met Jesus at the well had been of bad reputation, but when she accepted Jesus she went at once and brought her friends to Jesus. Many believed for the seeing of the woman."

"The one and only imperative necessity for winning people to Christ is a knowledge of Jesus as a personal Saviour. Andrew and Philip had this. We cannot win other people if we do not know Jesus ourselves. In secret of the success of Andrew and Philip was that they followed their first impressions. Many Christians wonder when they are to try to win people to Christ. When are we to start? The first does not impress us to try to save anyone. If we would just learn to follow the impressions we have when we feel that we should speak to someone about becoming a Christian. It is very important therefore that we learn to rightly interpret our impressions."

"When the woman at the well was converted she left her water pot and went at once to tell others. This means that we should be willing to let our business go when we are impressed to do this kind of work for the Lord. When we follow our impressions to do this kind of work, right will come and we will be successful. Peter was older and much more prominent than his brother Andrew and yet Andrew did not hesitate to seek to lead him to Jesus. Philip wanted his friend Nathaniel to know the Saviour that he had found. He went to Nathaniel's home, but he was not in, so he kept searching until he found him under the fig tree. He was determined to find him. These two men set an example in purpose and persistence in this kind of work. This is what counts in personal work. No religious 'pop culture' will answer the personal for we must look to the fact."

"There are so many people who are willing to work if it comes at an odd hour, but do not feel the importance of a definite attempt. These men did not wait for opportunity, but made their opportunities. These men also teach us the lesson of seeking people, just one at a time. Major Penn once said to a company of Christians: 'Don't you try to pray for all these unconverted people at once? Just pray and work for one person at a time. The work is to be won to Christ not at once but one at a time until all are saved.'"

"Personal work is important because each individual has some little difficulty that can be removed, perhaps, in a moment. But you say: 'If I should undertake this work what can I say? Every saved person can say just what Andrew and Philip said and all the trouble in the world will not be able to deny it. We have found the Christ. This is the testimony of experience. Paul, when he preached his great sermon, always preached his own experience. This is the kind of a message the world needs today. It is not arguments that need but the earnest messages of those who know of Jesus power to save.'"

"There will be many difficulties in the way that you will have to meet. Andrew and Philip met difficulties. Can there come any good thing out of Nazareth? The answer for us is the same as given by those two disciples: 'Come and see.' Just invited the unconverted to make a test of Jesus power for themselves. The rewards come to those who do personal work. Andrew did not amount to much but he won Simon Peter to Jesus who led the three thousand to Christ in a day. We have an opportunity to be great in the lives of those we win to Christ."

THE Tomorrow of a Farm

The past two or three years have furnished sufficient evidence of the dangers of a TOMORROW policy, especially as applied to the purchase of a farm. Did you profit when the village of yesterday changed to the city of today? Did you profit when the old farm was turned to the improved farm?

Here are the answers:—No. Tomorrow—perhaps tomorrow—
